Spartanburg Philharmonic announces nine finalists in search for 10th Music Director

The Spartanburg Philharmonic announces the selection of nine finalists for the organization's 10th Music Director. Pulled from over 150 applicants, the final candidates are a diverse and talented group of conductors. They include Antoine T. Clark, John Young Shik Concklin, Kelly Corcoran, Kayoko Dan, Nadege Foofat, Jacob Joyce, Geneviève LeClair, Lee Mills, and Troy Quinn. Concklin, Corcoran, Dan, and LeClair are all scheduled as guest conductors in the current season, with Kayoko Dan already making her debut on September 18, 2021. The remaining five finalists will lead the orchestra in performances as part of the 2022-2023 Zimmerli Series classical concerts beginning next fall. The Spartanburg Philharmonic will announce the full schedule and programs in March 2022.

Along with announcing the 2022-2023 Season concerts in March, the Spartanburg Philharmonic will begin offering Season Tickets, with single ticket sales starting in July. The entire Spartanburg community is invited to join the Philharmonic for these audition concerts. Audience members will have an opportunity to meet the candidates after each performance. The Search Committee will announce the new Music Director in spring 2023, and they will take the podium beginning in the 2023-2024 Season, just in time for the Spartanburg Philharmonic's 95th anniversary.

Kohler, Inc. named 2021 Cultural Champion!

Each year, Chapman Cultural Center has the honor of awarding a deserving local organization the distinction of being a Cultural Champion. The Cultural Champion award recipient is an organization that has made a long-standing commitment to the arts through annual, capital, and-or in-kind support, board service, and the presence of arts and creativity in their own organization. This year's champion checks off all these boxes, and more!

Kohler has supported the Chapman Cultural Center since 1987.

Mr. Mike Kohler and the entire Kohler team will tell you first hand the incredible history of Kohler's love and support of arts in Sheboygan Wisconsin with the John Michael Kohler Arts Center, but also beyond Wisconsin in the communities they serve. The CCC staff has had the wonderful opportunity to tour the local Kohler facility and are amazed at their commitment to philanthropy in the Spartanburg community.

Kohler has been a continued partner of Chapman Cultural Center through the construction of the center in downtown Spartanburg through capital funding and also a very generous gift-in-kind of our fixtures. In addition, Kohler once again stepped up to support the arts through in-kind support of Mayfair Art Studios in 2020.

Kohler exemplifies what it means to be a Cultural Champion!

GSP Airport resumes parking shuttle service

As another sign that passenger activity is recovering, GSP has re-established parking shuttle service from its Economy Parking Lot P2. The service was discontinued in April 2020 due to the significant reduction in passenger activity resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic.

An airport shuttle bus runs continuously from 4:15 a.m. until one hour past the last arriving flight each day. Travelers can catch the shuttle at marked shelters located in Economy Lot P2 and at a dedicated pick-up spot on the terminal curb near baggage claim.

A Live Shuttle Tracker allows travelers to follow the shuttle's progress on desktop, mobile apps, or through onsite kiosks. Visit gspairport.com/shuttle-service for more information and to view the Live Shuttle Tracker.

As an added convenience, travelers can now pre-book parking at GSP. This allows travelers to guarantee a space in their preferred garage or parking lot. Parking can be purchased online at gspairport.com/parking. Once parking is booked, passengers can enter and exit their chosen parking area with touchless license plate recognition. They can also enter or exit by showing a code from their cell phone or printed parking reservation receipt.

USC Upstate announced plans to create an esports club activity during the Spring 2022 semester, and a varsity esports program that will debut during the Fall 2022 semester.

USC Upstate launches esports program

The University of South Carolina Upstate recently announced the launch of its esports program that will attract future Spartans and enrich the student experience by creating a thriving gaming community on campus. USC Upstate intends to create a varsity program that will debut during the Fall 2022 semester, but esports will be introduced as a club activity in Spring 2022.

The program will be housed in a 1,600-squarefoot gaming center within the university's Health Education Complex. The center will feature 45 gaming stations, each equipped with a state-of-the-art computer by Alienware featuring an 11th generation Intel Core i9 processor 2.5 gigahertz with a 1 terabyte hard drive and 32 gigabytes of RAM memory, and an Nvidia GeForce RTX 3090 graphics card.

"Few co-curricular options in American higher education are expanding like esports," said Dr. Brit Katz, interim vice chancellor for student affairs at USC Upstate. "As greater numbers of universities work to create meaningful experiences for students through egaming, USC Upstate also aspires to compete with our consoles, keyboards and headsets."

"Research confirms that esports players will enroll in an institution that is hundreds of miles away from home if elements like a terrific gaming station, excited peers, meaningful competition and affiliation exist," Katz added.

USC Upstate leaders and officials from other Big South member institutions are actively pursuing the development of competitions that could result in an informal conference championship.

The varsity program will initially compete in three games: "League of Legends," "Valorant" and "Rocket League." A range of other games will be available to club players and the university plans to continue to grow those options over time.

Nick Ames, assistant director of Intramural Sports, Club Sports and Summer Camps at USC Upstate, said student polling showed overwhelming support for the inception of an esports program. Ames will direct the program, which will be operated under Campus Recreation.

"After listening to requests from our current and prospective students, we are excited to bring esports to Upstate," said Donette Stewart, vice chancellor of enrollment services and director of admissions at USC Upstate. "Our new gaming center will feature the best Alienware computers on the market so we are looking for competitive students to join us. We will offer students a chance to play the games they enjoy while they earn a top notch degree that will prepare rewarding for careers."

Pottery vase

Artists often create works in many different mediums - ceramics, painting, sculpture, jewelry and even metalwork. After World War I, many artists traveled to different countries and schools to learn new "looks" and techniques. England, France, Germany and Scandinavia were leading art centers.

Vally Wieselthier (1895-1945) was famous in Germany by the 1920s but almost unknown in the United States. She was born in Austria and studied under Michael Powolny from 1914 to 1920. She was a leading ceramic artist and designer making figurines, female heads, vases and more.

In 1929, she moved to the U.S. and worked in New York making large ceramic statues and also designed dinnerware for the Sebring factory in Ohio; ironstone dinnerware designs for Mayer Pottery in Trenton, New Jersey; and worked at Cowan Pottery in Ohio, where she introduced the Wiener Werkstatte style. She also designed glassware, jewelry, textiles, papiermache mannequins, furniture and even metal elevator doors. With all her success and fame, few pieces are seen in U.S. auctions. Neal Auction Company sold an 8inch-high Wiener Werkstatte vase made in 1925 signed with both "WW" (Wiener Werkstatte) and "VW" (Vally Wieselthier) for $1,037.

Q. My aunt gave me a perfume lamp 50 years ago. It's a figural dog sitting up and begging. It has perforations on the head, a place for the perfume in the back of the head and large glass eyes where the light can show through. Can you tell me something about perfume lamps?

A: Maurice Berger, a French pharmacist, invented the perfume lamp in 1897 when he added perfume to lamp oil or other liquid fuel. Electric perfume lamps that used a lightbulb to heat the perfume were made by the early 1900s. The fragrance is emitted through small holes in the lamp.

Perfume lamps have been made in many different figural shapes and were made by manufacturers in several different countries. The lamp with a lightbulb, but without the perfume inside, is often used as a nightlight. Today a battery-operated or plug-in product, diffuser or spray can be used to provide a pleasant scent to a room.

Mary Black Foundation awards $15,898 to SCC's Early Childhood Education program

Spartanburg Recently, Community College announced that the college's Early Childhood Education program was the recipient of a $15,898 grant from the Mary Black Foundation to help the program be better equipped to train students to enter the workforce as daycare teachers, teacher's assistants, and directors of childcare programs.

"Investments such as this from the community we serve is a testament to the Spartanburg Community College has on the area," said Dr. Michael Mikota, president of SCC. "I want to thank the Mary Black Foundation for investing in the continued success of our students and I can't wait to see the ways in which this will benefit those participating in our Early Childhood Education program and the children they will one day influ-

Funding for this project supports the Early Care and Education Certificate and Associate Degree programs by establishing a simulation lab, investing in traveling kits that students can take to practicums at local daycares, and investing in faculty professional development.

With the help of this funding, SCC will establish an Early Care Education Simulation Lab SCC's Downtown Campus to provide students with the opportunity to practice what they are learning in the classroom in a simulated early childhood environment. The Simulation Lab will include educational toys and books, furniture utilized in early childhood classrooms, and equipment needed to create personalized learning activities for preschool-age children.

Finally, funding will allow SCC's faculty members to attend training to become certified Pediatric CPR/First Aid trainers so that they can train students in life-saving techniques.

These strategic enhancements to the program will ments to the program will help to close the gap on educational disparities by ensuring that graduates are trained in best practices for early childhood education and enter Spartanburg's early childhood workforce equipped to provide high quality education to young children throughout the Upstate.

"The Early Care and Education Department at SCC is incredibly grateful to the Mary Black Foundation for their generosity in giving," said Connie Spink, department chair for SCC's Early Care and Education Programs. "The support provided by the Mary Black Foundation will improve the education and experiences of students who will teach our area's youngest learners, therefore ultimately providing our community with higher quality early childhood educators."

Andrew Lord promoted to head coach/general manager of Swamp Rabbits

Greenville The Green-Swamp Rabbits announced Andrew Lord has been promoted to Head Coach/General Manager of organization Thursday, October 28th at Bon Secours Wellness Arena.

Lord, who is currently in his second season as head coach, currently holds a 38-20-15 career regular season record in the ECHL. Last season, he led Greenville to an Eastern Conference Finals appearance and earned four additional wins during the postseason.

"From the moment he joined this organization, Coach Lord began leading the Swamp Rabbits on and off the ice," said Swamp Rabbits President Todd Mackin. "His record and success speak for themselves, but his behind-thescenes efforts are what set him apart. This is the reward and recognition for Coach Lord's tireless hours of dedication to this team and its fans."

SCBIO names James Chappell as CEO to lead South Carolina's fastest growing industry

Following a nationwide search that targeted 200 candidates in 39 states and resulted in 116 total applications from across the country, the Board of Directors of SCBIO has named Dr. James Chappell, an executive with Louisiana Economic Development, as the organization's new President and Chief Executive Officer.

Dr. Chappell, whose career also includes time with Chartic Management Consulting in Boston, joined Louisiana Economic Development (LED) in 2013 and held positions of increasing responsibility at the organization including Executive Director of State Economic Competitiveness before being named Executive Director of Competitiveness Entrepreneurship for the organization in 2021.

During his tenure at LED, Dr. Chappell's numerous successes included designing and implementing the state's $100 million venture capital and small business funds, developing strategies to recruit globally recognized companies to the state, and joining the Louisiana MediFund board to develop strategies to increase the biosciences and healthcare industries in Louisiana. He also collaborated with bioscience and technology advocates to improve incentives to promote growth in the bioscience and technology industries.

B.S. and M.S. in Plant Environmental Sciences from Clemson University, his Ph.D. from Louisiana State University, and a Postdoctoral Fellowship in Stem Cell Biology focusing on cancer and diabetes from Harvard Medical School. A three-year varsity football letterman while at Clemson, he is married with two children. He began his new role with SCBIO on November 8. "SCBIO and South Carolina life sciences are excited to welcome James to lead this dynamic and forward-looking industry organization, and to help our hundreds of life sciences companies and thousands of employees and innovators take it to an entirely new level," said Lou Kennedy, Board Chair of SCBIO and founder and CEO of Nephron Pharmaceuticals, and a member of the search committee. "Competition for the position was extremely strong but we unanimously felt that his credentials in both life sciences and economic development were the precise mix we sought as we continue to build, advance and grow the industry in South Carolina."

Life sciences has a $12 billion economic impact in the Palmetto State, with more than 700 firms opment teams.

The entire board and SCBIO membership are excited that she will remain a key part of the organization in her prior role of Executive Vice President and COO to add a steady and experienced hand to crafting an exciting new future."

Ms. Ford has served as primary lead for SCBIO's business operations and finances, championing investor relations and existing industry strategies, and spearheading integrated marketing initiatives. She has managed the majority of the organiday-to-day zation's requirements since joining SCBIO in 2017.
